External Funding:

Optimizing SARS-CoV-2 Testing and Promotores Interventions to Serve Latinx Communities

National Institute on Drug Abuse of the National Institutes of Health (under award 3P50DA048756-03S3)

Leslie Leve, William Cresko, David DeGarmo, Multiple Principal Investigators

Elizabeth L. Budd, Co-Investigator

9/2021-8/2023, $1,104,555, funded

Goal: Continue to address ongoing COVID-19 disparities among underserved Latinx populations in Oregon by collaborating with community partners to optimize testing locations across Oregon and deliver a culturally tailored health intervention to increase testing, improve health behaviors, and reduce vaccine hesitancy among Latinx individuals. I contribute to the Implementation Science and Community Engagement teams.

Scaling Up SARS-CoV-2 Testing to Serve Latinx Communities

National Institute on Drug Abuse of the National Institutes of Health (under award 3P50DA048756-02S2)

Goal: Develop and implement a culturally-tailored community outreach and testing program to increase the reach, access, and uptake of COVID-19 testing and other preventive behaviors among Latinx communities in Oregon. I contribute to the Community Engagement team.

SARS-CoV-2 State Testing Infrastructure Contract

Oregon Health Authority

Cassandra Moseley, Leslie Leve, William Cresko, Multiple Principal Investigators

Elizabeth L. Budd, Collaborator

Goal of the sub-project: I led a community assessment to inform culturally tailored SARS-CoV-2 testing and communication protocols for Latinx, Black/African American, Asian American, and rural residents of Lane County, Oregon.

Principal Investigator Pilot Testing New Moves for Girls in an Afterschool Setting

Jane Higdon Memorial Fund of The Oregon Community Foundation (352690)

Elizabeth L. Budd, Principal Investigator

Goal: Pilot test the feasibility and acceptability of an adapted 10-week New Moves health promotion program at the Emerald Valley Boys & Girls Club among 15-20 early adolescent girls. Assess pre- post- and follow-up accelerometer-measured physical activity and self-reported self-worth, body satisfaction, and eating behaviors.

The Early Growth and Development Study Pediatric Cohort

National Institutes of Health Office of the Director (1UG3 OD023389)

Leslie Leve, Jenae Neiderhiser, Jody Ganiban, Multiple Principal Investigators

Goal: Examine how family, peer, and contextual processes affect children's adjustment, and to examine their interactions with genetic influences using a prospective adoption study design. Participants included birth parents, adoptive parents, and adopted children recruited in two cohorts.

Internal funding:

Parsing the Links among Adolescents' Nature Exposure, Physical activity, Social Media Use, and Stress

Sport and Wellness Institute, University of Oregon

Elizabeth L. Budd and Nichole Kelly†, Co-Principal Investigators

2/2023-7/2024, $160,000, funded

Goal: Scale up the previous longitudinal pilot study to assess associations among nature and social media exposure, physical activity, and stress among adolescents.

Parsing the Effects of Nature Exposure and Physical Activity on Mood and Cognitive Functioning among Adolescents

University of Oregon's Office of Vice President for Research and Innovation, Innovation Fund

Goal: Conduct a longitudinal pilot study to assess feasibility of methods and initial effects of nature exposure and physical activity on adolescents' mood and cognitive functioning.

Participant-informed Adaptations to a Brief Workplace Intervention to Reduce Weight Stigma and Weight Bias Internalization

Counseling Psychology & Human Services Department, University of Oregon

6/2021-6/2022, $5,000, funded

Goal: Created two high-quality, engaging, animated videos that effectively communicate the many sources of body size bias and the multi-level contributors to body size in a way that models inclusive language rather than promulgating stigma.

Assessment of Kidsports' PE Fusion and Psychometric Testing of the Physical Literacy Assessment of Youth (PLAY) Measure

Office of the Provost COVID Impact Award, University of Oregon

12/2020-12/2021, $5,000, funded

Goal: Assess the impact of Kidsports summer camp participation on children's emotional health, physical activity, and physical literacy. Psychometrically tested a widely used measure of children's physical literacy that has not yet been psychometrically tested.

Assessment of Multi-level Factors that Influence Open/Closed Campus Policy Decisions

Counseling Psychology & Human Services Department Faculty Research Award, University of Oregon

9/2020-9/2023-extended due to COVID-19 pandemic, $5,000, funded

Goal: Survey high school principals in California, Colorado, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington in order to identify who is involved in lunch time (open/closed) policy decisions and the factors that influence these decisions.

Pilot Testing the Feasibility and Acceptability a Brief Worksite Intervention to Reduce Weight Stigma and Weight Bias Internalization

University of Oregon's Office of the Vice President for Research, Healthy Oregon Challenge Fund

Goal: Develop and pilot test a novel, evidence-informed brief intervention to reduce workplace discrimination based on body weight.

Pilot Testing the Feasibility and Acceptability a Brief Worksite Intervention to Reduce Weight Stigma and Weight Bias Internalization

Andrea Wiggins Fund and Hope Baney Fund, College of Education, University of Oregon

4/2019-4/2020, $3,780, funded

Goal: Develop and pilot test a novel, evidence-informed brief intervention to reduce workplace discrimination based on body weight.

Pilot Testing New Moves for Girls in an Afterschool Setting

Counseling Psychology and Human Services Department Faculty Research Award, University of Oregon

6/2018-5/2019, $5,000, funded

Goal: Pilot test an adapted 10-week New Moves health promotion program at the Emerald Valley Boys & Girls Club among 15-20 early adolescent girls.

Lessons Learned from the Oakridge Buying Club: Strategies for Future Food Access Programs in Rural Communities

Office of the Vice President for Research Incubating Interdisciplinary Initiatives (I3) Award, University of Oregon

Tasia Smith†, Principal Investigator

7/2017-6/2019, $50,000, funded

Goal: Evaluate the feasibility and acceptability of the Oakridge Buying Club, a community-food retailer partnered food access program in rural Oregon.

New Moves for Inactive Girls in Lane County

Office of the Vice President for Research Faculty Research Award, University of Oregon

Goal: Gather feedback from key community stakeholders on 1) which afterschool program would be the most fitting host for a New Moves pilot project; 2) how to tailor the New Moves program to the unique needs and preferences of inactive, early adolescent girls living in low socioeconomic status communities in Lane County, OR; and 3) which implementation strategies would maximize the feasibility and sustainability of New Moves in low socioeconomic status communities in Lane County, OR.
